NIKKI M MASCALI, REPORTER

More than 5 million passengers have sailed on the NYC Ferry since it launched in May 2017, including yours truly. I absolutely love having it as a transit option after I recently moved — and especially love the views of our gorgeous skyline from the East River. New Yorkers in the Bronx and on the Lower East Side will soon have it as an alternative, too, as service will launch there this month. Find out when you can sail away on page 4 or at metro.us.

METRO.USREDDIT SAYS USER DATA
BREACHED

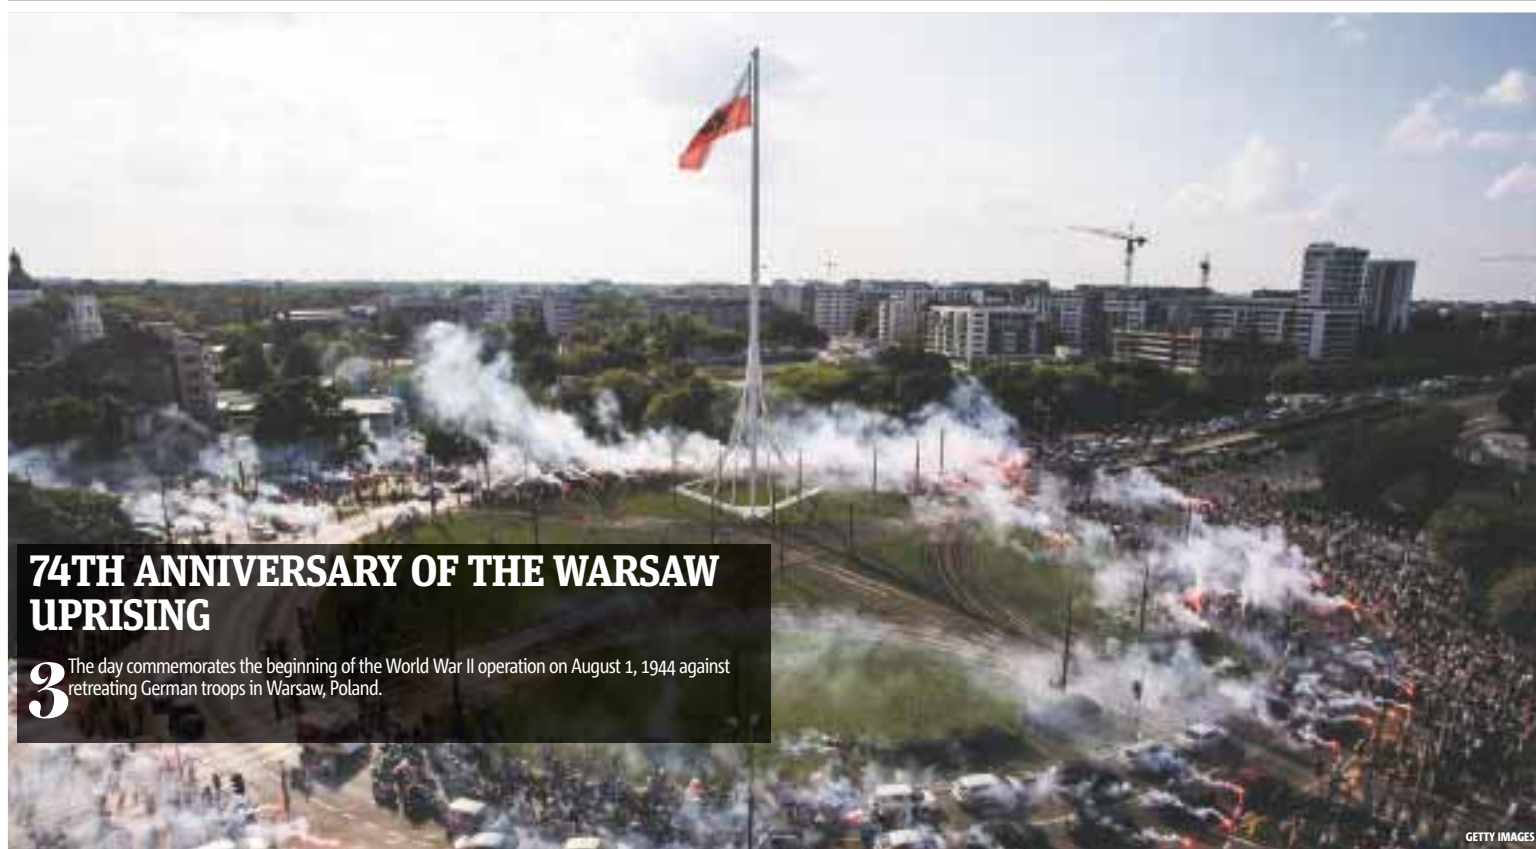

I Social media network Reddit said on Wednesday a hacker broke into a few of its systems and accessed some user data, including current email addresses and a 2007 database backup containing old encrypted passwords. A copy of an old database backup containing very early Reddit user data from the site's launch in 2005 through May 2007 was accessed by the hacker, the social media network said. "Although this was a serious attack, the attacker did not gain write access to Reddit systems; they gained read-only access to some systems that contained backup data, source code and other logs," Reddit's founding engineer Christopher Slowe wrote. Reddit learned on June 19 an attacker compromised a few employees' accounts between June 14 and June 18, according to Slowe. The breach was carried out by intercepting text messages that were meant to reach employees with one-time login codes, Reddit said, adding that it was notifying the affected users. Slowe said the firm hired its first head of security nearly three months ago. "So far he hasn't quit."

TROOPS, PROTESTERS
CLASH IN ZIMBABWE

2 Zimbabwe police said three people were killed in the capital city, Harare, on Wednesday as soldiers dispersed stone-throwing opposition supporters who accused the ruling party of trying to rig Monday's presidential election. The soldiers' deployment and their beating of unarmed protesters set back President Emmerson Mnangagwa's efforts to shed Zimbabwe's pariah status after decades of repression under Robert Mugabe, who was ousted in a coup last November. Even before the violence, European Union observers questioned the conduct of the presidential and parliamentary vote, the first in nearly 40 years. Zimbabwe's electoral commission had said it would start announcing results for the presidential race on Wednesday but that was pushed back at least 24 hours. EU monitors said the delay was undermining the vote's credibility. The unrest started soon after Nelson Chamisa, leader of the opposition Movement for Democratic Change, declared that he had won the popular vote. A police spokeswoman said that the three people killed in the clashes had yet to be identified.

74TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WARSAW UPRISING

3 The day commemorates the beginning of the World War II operation on August 1, 1944 against retreating German troops in Warsaw, Poland.

DANES PROTEST BAN
ON WEARING FACE VEILS

4 Around 1,300 Danes marched through Copenhagen on Wednesday in protest of a new ban on the wearing of face veils in public, accusing the government of infringing on women's right to dress as they choose. Denmark's parliament enacted the ban in May, joining France and other European Union countries to uphold what some politicians say are secular and democratic values. The protesters, many wearing the niqab veil or body-length burqa, marched from the central district of Nørrebro to Bellahøj police station on the outskirts of the capital. They formed a human chain around the station and then marched back to Nørrebro before dispersing. Demonstrators chanted "no racism in our streets" and "my life, my choice" during the three-hour rally. Marchers included non-niqab-wearing Muslim women and non-Muslim Danes with faces covered. Under the law, police will be able to instruct women to remove their veils or order them to leave public areas. None of the veiled protesters would be penalized since certain uses of face veils are exempt from the law.

APPLE'S RIDE TO
$1 TRILLION VALUATION

5 Apple is close to becoming the first publicly listed U.S. company valued at $1 trillion, but exactly how close requires a little math. Based on Apple's Tuesday earnings release, the magic number that gets the tech giant to $1 trillion is $206.49, but maybe not for long. Apple's stock was at an all-time high of $200.48 Wednesday, thanks to the company's better-than-expected results and its aggressive share buybacks. As part of its June-quarter report late on Tuesday, Apple said it bought back $20 billion of its own stock and that its share count as of the end of June had declined to 4,842,917,000, which would mean its stock price must reach $206.49 for the company to hit a $1 trillion market capitalization. Based on the share count listed on its balance sheet on Tuesday, Apple's stock market value was at $971 billion. Apple was expected to file its quarterly report to the Securities and Exchange Commission with an even more recent share count, which may show a further dip due to Apple's buyback program. If that is the case, then Apple would need to hit a higher stock price for that market value.

NYC Ferry announces launch dates for Soundview, Lower East Side routes

The Soundview route of NYC Ferry sets sail Aug. 15, with Lower East Side following Aug. 29 to serve areas that have historically been transit deserts.

NIKKI M. MASCALI

The wait for NYC Ferry service on the Lower East Side and in the Soundview section of the Bronx is over — or at least it will be by the end of this month.

Hornblower-operated NYC Ferry and New York City Economic Development Corp. announced the Soundview route is slated to launch Aug. 15, with the Lower East Side following Aug. 29.

"We're excited to launch NYC Ferry service in the Bronx, the Upper East Side and the Lower East Side, which have historically been transit deserts," NYCEDC President James Patchett said. "For the same cost of a subway ride, New Yorkers that live and work in these communities will now have a fast, affordable and convenient way to get around the city."

NYC Ferry launched in May 2017 and has served more than 5 million passengers on its four routes to Astoria, South Brooklyn, Rockaway and along the East River.

Last month, the service unveiled the Ocean Queen Rockstar, the first of six 350-passenger ships that will accommodate the high demand for the ferry.

NYC Ferry Soundview route stops

The Soundview route will make four stops: Soundview/Clason Point; East 90th Street; East 34th Street and Wall Street/Pier 11.

The trip from Soundview/Clason Point to Wall Street will take about 54 minutes.

NYC Ferry Lower East Side route stops

The Lower East Side route will include five stops: Long Island City at Gantry Plaza State Park; East 34th Street;

Doctors Urge Knee Pain Sufferers

“Don’t Get ANY Surgery Until You See This...”

After Years Of Intense Study, NYC Medical Clinic Finally Reveals It’s Best “Treatment Formula” For Helping Knee Arthritis Sufferers... Especially When So Many Other Treatments Have Failed

NEW YORK CITY - If you are even remotely interested in discovering how the latest scientific discoveries can possibly help your knee pain... then this is going to be the most exciting information you ever read.

Here is why: Knee pain can not only be brutal... it’s complex. In other words, it’s not a simple, easy fix.

But I’m sure you already know that. Or you wouldn’t be reading this.

That’s the bad news.

Now for some good news...

Over the years, NYC Pain MD has treated countless knee pain sufferers. And in that time have been able to constantly improve.

And we have come up with a treatment formula that we have found works best and helps the most patients.

This formula has reduced or even eliminated the pain in many. Some were scheduled for knee replacement surgery and felt good enough to cancel their surgery.

It’s amazing when patients who were once in excruciating pain... start feeling better. And start walking again. And playing golf. Or tennis. And finally getting their lives back.

Especially when they had gone to other doctors and tried so many other things.

So many had given up hope.

Sound familiar? If it does... check this out...

The Treatment Formula

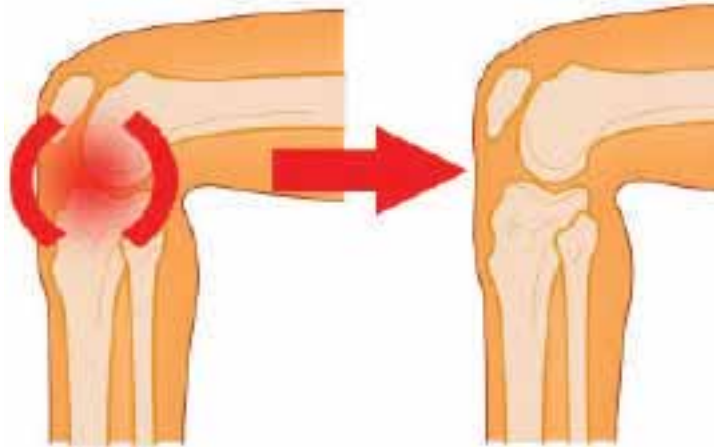

While I can’t give you the entire treatment formula here (there is not enough space and WAY too complicated) I can give you the basics. And more important... I can tell you what it might be able to do for YOU.

The first and most important part of the formula is: PATIENT SELECTION.

This means, NYC Pain MD has a detailed screening process to tell who is most likely to be helped by their treatments... and who is not.

If you qualify, you have the opportunity to move forward and experience the worldclass treatments that NYC Pain MD offers.

If you do not, NYC Pain MD will tell you what they think your best options are and help you find the right doctor for you.

NYC Pain MD “Treatment Formula” A protocol of advanced medical treatments that has already helped thousands.

If you qualify, NYC Pain MD offers some of the most advanced medical treatments available today all using the most advanced imaging technology including:

- Viscosupplementation (gel injections)
- Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP)
- Stem Cell Therapy (Lipogems)
- Genicular Knee Block
- And more.

Once again, there is not enough space to go into detail about all these procedures... but here are some things you MUST KNOW...

Viscosupplementation is where a doctor introduces a gel-like medicine directly into the joint space. This helps to lubricate the joints often relieving some, most or even all of your pain. Results can last for 6 months to several years.

Many have had these treatments without good results. However, NYC Pain MD feels this is because doctors often do these “gel injections” without advanced imaging to guide them. Research shows they will often miss the joint. If the joint is missed... it is impossible for the treatment to work.

NYC Pain MD has spared no expense and used advanced imaging to guide the injections assuring the medicine gets into the joint. We frequently get results when this treatment was a failure done elsewhere.

The second thing you must know is... our treatment plans are custom made for every patient. And we have all these treatments offered in the same place. Many times you will get the best results from multiple treatments. At NYC Pain MD your doctors will all be there and will all know each other and you and your case. They work together and give you the best treatments and care without you having to go anywhere else.

The ability to select the right patients and then have the potential to give them any or all of these treatments... with all the necessary medical technology... under one roof... has allowed NYC Pain MD to get better results than they thought possible.

Here’s What You Should Do Next

If you suffer with knee pain... and any of this made sense to you... NYC Pain MD would like to offer you a No-cost screening. That screening is the first step in our “Treatment Formula.”

You will get to see a doctor and ask any questions you have. Your doctor will take the first steps to see if you qualify for treatments and give you recommendations.

The best thing is... you will finally get direction. You will know what’s going on and what is your best course of action... step-by-step. The treatments will be explained in detail and you will breathe a big sigh of relief finally knowing what’s going on and what can or cannot be done.

There is so much we want to say to help you... but I’m out of space. Give us a call at 877-296-6310 and take the first step. That step is free without obligation.

New flyover highway opens at LaGuardia Airport to ease traffic woes

A new path will provide direct access to the east side of LaGuardia Airport, providing a quicker route than the hub's previously tangled of roadways.

or the Brooklyn-Queens Expressway,” Port Authority Executive Director Rick Cotton said Tuesday. “This particular new flyover will, at the beginning, be the primary roadway or overpass for vehicles crossing to the east side of LaGuardia Airport.”

It's expected to handle 20 percent of the airport's inbound traffic.

The flyover highway is one piece of the $8 billion effort to rebuild LaGuardia Airport, officials said. As part of that, the transportation hub's roadway network has been redesigned and re-engineered.

“This flyover is just the first, though perhaps the most critical, of 26 new bridges that will come online over the next three years to improve airport traffic flow as the redevelopment of LaGuardia airport continues,” Cotton said.

Both Cotton and Gov. Andrew Cuomo noted that LaGuardia Airport has a “tangle” of roads — or, as the governor put it, “a spaghetti bowl of roadways” — that has made navigating the airport confusing, time-consuming and treacherous for travelers.

With about 40 percent of all airport traffic coming from Manhattan expected to use this flyover highway, officials anticipate it will relieve traffic congestion even as LaGuardia Airport undergoes more construction. Traffic headed to Terminals C and D will be entirely diverted to this flyover highway, which will serve as an exclusive access point to the eastern half of the airport.

Before construction began, LaGuardia Airport had 19 different traffic signals to control the flow of vehicles around its “hodgepodge of separate terminals,” Cotton said. When the modernization effort is complete, there will be only three traffic signals.

“The new roadway network will have vastly improved wayfinding signage, vastly improved lighting and vastly improved traffic flow,” Cotton said. “That is the benefit of master planning and thinking big.”

Along with a new traffic pattern, other LaGuardia Airport construction efforts are currently in the works. A new Terminal B parking garage will create space for 3,000 vehicles along with a dedicated level for Uber, Lyft and other car services. The new Terminal B headhouse, the main part of the facilities for LaGuardia Airport's western half, is scheduled to open in early 2020.

Cuomo noted that revamping LaGuardia Airport is a large project that will cause some local inconvenience during construction, but will have a long-term benefit. This will be the first entirely new airport built in the United States in 25 years.

“This airport is not just going to be new and easier to navigate,” Cuomo said at the flyover highway ribbon cutting on Tuesday, “It's going to have an AirTrain, finally, so you can get into Manhattan. It's going to have a high-speed ferry. It's going to have more parking than ever before. It's going to be a totally new and better airport.”

Learn the skills of the health-care industry at ABC Training Center

This Bronx institution has placed nearly 50,000 graduates in in-demand jobs.

patrick.king@metro.us

For nearly 50 years, ABC Training Center has been a fixture in the Bronx, helping residents start their careers. This week it will celebrate the opening of its new headquarters at 50 East Fordham Rd. (entrance on Walton Avenue).

Since 1972, ABC has partnered with hospitals, nursing homes, clinics and other medical facilities to find jobs for more than 50,000 graduates.

What sets this facility apart from others is the scope and variety of the programs it covers, coupled with the success rate for its graduates.

Students can enroll in classes to earn their certification for home health aide; EKG and phlebotomy tech; certified nurse aide; pharmacy tech; medical assistant; and medical billing and coding, among others.

Licensed by the New York State Department of Education and given an A+ rating by the Better Business Bureau, ABC Training Center has provided residents of the Bronx and other neighborhoods in the New York area with reliable, low-cost training to help its students break into the country's fastest growing industry.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the health-care industry is projected to increase its workforce 18 percent by 2026.

Thanks to its reputation for high-quality graduates, ABC is helping New Yorkers jump ahead of the pack and find work quickly in the competitive field.

David Herwitz, the director of ABC, grew up a few blocks away from the school and is proud of what it has accomplished in the community. But, as he sees it, the need for so many health-care professionals is bittersweet.

"The bad news is, unfortunately, that people will always get old and people will continue to become ill. That's just a fact of life," Herwitz explained. "The good news is that the competition between employers to fill these positions is fierce. And these jobs are a good alternative to college for people who don't want to go, can't afford it or just don't want to go right away."

"These jobs will always be there waiting in any economy. For example: home health aide — which is one of the jobs that we train for here — is going to be the most available and essential job in the coming decade, above all other professions."

Hervitz described the competition among home health agencies for aides as "particularly intense."

"We have to schedule them one after another to come into our classrooms to make their pitches. Our students are receiving job offers before they even graduate."

"Another position that has a great need for workers is certified nurse aide (CNA). We've actually rented office space on our premises to the biggest hiring agency in the city, because they want all of our CNA grads, and want them right away. These are examples of jobs that are increasing in number even at a time when the economy is offloading many others," he said.

ABC admits students from all demographics and backgrounds into its programs. For example: if you have not earned your high school diploma, you can take an entrance exam to be eligible for the majority of these programs and the chance to enter this competitive workforce.

ABC Training Center is enrolling students into its programs. Admissions office hours are Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, visit abctrainingcenter.net or call (718) 364-6700.

The time has come to announce our Grumble of the week winner! We had received a lot of responses to a Grumble about solving "social media fatigue," and this one was one of my favorites. I had used it for a larger story that we had published online about the subject, but here is the whole thing in print for the very first time:

It sounds like you have a dilemma on your hands. If you're in a relationship, that might make the dilemma easier to deal with. I am not in a relationship but wish that I was. That's one of my dilemmas. I'm retired. Retirement: That's something I like, something I value. I started accessing the internet in September, 2005, while working as a messenger. I've learned the hard way to spend as little time as possible at social-media sites. And I access the internet for only an hour a day — with rare exceptions. Disney hopes to recapture the magic of Winnie the Pooh with this live-action adaptation. ALL PHOTOS DISNEY

'Christopher Robin' brings the Winnie the Pooh story to a new generation

Writer Alex Ross Perry opens up about his approach to these classic characters.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

"Christopher Robin" is Disney's attempt to bring the beloved characters and stories of A.A. Milne and illustrations of E.H. Shepherd to a new audience. To accomplish that, the studio recruited the vocal talents of Jim Cummings to once again voice Winnie the Pooh and Tigger, roles he's been performing over the last 30 years.

But there was plenty of new blood brought in to oversee this brand new story of Pooh and an elderly Christopher Robin, played by Ewan McGregor, who has become subdued and disgruntled with adult life. The most surprising addition to "Christopher Robin" came in the shape of screenwriter Alex Ross Perry, who before writing the Disney film had primarily worked his movie magic as the writer and director of small indie films "The Color Wheel," "Listen Up Philip" and "Queen of Earth." We caught up with Perry to chat about the film.

What was the biggest adjustment you had to make writing the film? There's two sides to that. One is that the process of doing this was so rewardingly educational, simply because the beats you are hitting are pre-ordained. You are using a template of successfully streamlined studio family entertainment. So the beats are, you have a little prologue. You introduce things. By page 10, you have introduced this. By page 20 Christopher and Pooh have met. By page 40 they are off on their journey. The structure of all Disney movies, from "Snow White" onward, there's not a huge amount of variation on ones that are made at that level. The biggest adjustment was basically me learning a second language. I knew how to write, and had written my own movies, but I hadn't learned how to write in that language.

It sounds like it was a rewarding experience.

It was very satisfying after a couple of months of getting to the point where I was very fluent in Pooh, because the first approach in those first couple of frightening weeks was, you know, this is a movie with nine characters that I didn't create. One of which I did create, adult Christopher. But I did not create the idea of "Christopher Robin." I just had to get to a point after a couple of weeks where I had to feel like I had created them. Otherwise I couldn't take ownership of them. I couldn't feel like I was borrowing them and I had to return them in the same condition I found them. I had to get to a point where I believed Pooh and Piglet and Tigger and Eeyore, that I wasn't just writing fan-fiction, but I was writing something that was organic and innate for myself.

"Christopher Robin" opens August 3.

Your summer 2018 bucket list

We're already into the final month of summer — don't let it end without crossing off these essential to-do items from your bucket list.

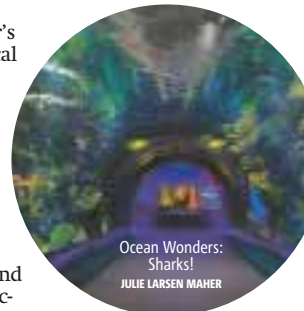

EVA KIS
eva.kis@metro.us

Best Shakespeare you'll see all year
Shakespeare in the Park should be a summer tradition, but this year's "Twelfth Night" musical is nothing short of magical. Shaina Taub has composed an adaptation that will have you bouncing in your seat, infusing the joy and comedy of the play with jazz beats and lyrics that will make you laugh and cry in turn. The production stars a cast of 50 ordinary New Yorkers, so no amount of glowing reviews (and they've all been rightly glowing) will make it extend beyond its scheduled run at the Delacorte Theater. Through Aug. 19

Stop by the "Sweeney Todd" pie shop
As immersive theater goes, it doesn't get closer than Sweeney Todd waving his deadly barber's razor in your face while standing on your table. Head to the Barrow Street Theatre, where the night's performance starts with a personal-size pie for audience members who eat them at the very tables on which the cast performs their musical about the dastardly Demon Barber of Fleet Street. Officially the longest-running "Sweeney Todd" production in history, you'll never find another like it — and the final show is Aug. 26.

Hit up Jacob Riis Park beach

World-class art, new eats and a beachside arcade make Jacob Riis Park the must-do beach trip of summer 2018. Start at the Jacob Riis Bathhouse, which just got a loving restoration by the Beach Bazaar crew, turning the abandoned Art Deco marvel into a hub of trendy seaside bites, live music, games and a beer garden, plus glamping courtesy of Camp Rockaway. A breezy 20-minute walk down the beach will put you near historic Fort Tilden, worth exploring on its own, and also within reach of Yayoi Kusama's summer commission by the Met, "Narcissus Garden," a meditation on forgotten history and finding our place in the world (through Sept. 3).

Spend an entire day on Governors Island

If there's something to do outdoors, you can do it on Governors Island: outdoor movies, car-free paths for biking, the city's tallest slide, mini golf, hammocks, public art, a harborside oyster bar, even "ice" skating in the middle of summer. It can even be your late-night hang on Saturdays, when the last ferry doesn't leave until 11 p.m. And you don't even have to leave on the last ferry — spend the night glamping with Statue of Liberty views at the new Collective Retreats campsite.

Coney Island packs in a whole day of fun

Find a book you like and read it to the end of the F train to Coney Island, which has changed so much in the last two years you won't even recognize it. Ride the new Astro Tower at Luna Park or the 7D zombie escape XD Dark, eat the boardwalk's original hot dog at the reopened Felt-man's, grab a drink on the roof of the Kitchen 21 food hall, visit the New York Aquarium's new Sharks! exhibit (and stay late with drinks and special events every Friday in August), see a concert at the renovated Coney Island Amphitheater. And amid all that's exciting and new, visit the strange and wonderful people who keep the neighborhood interesting at the Coney Island Sideshow.

A trip to Hawaii without a plane ticket

When you step off the plane in Honolulu, that first breath of coconut-scented air is enough to make you believe in a larger benevolent power to have created this tropical paradise. Georgia O'Keeffe felt the same way during her 1939 visit, and her lush (and, yes, more than a bit erotic) portraits of Hawaii's plants now hang in the New York Botanical Garden along with a garden recreating the landscapes she saw. Visit Visions of Hawaii on an Aloha Night for themed cocktails and performances — and then book a plane ticket to the real thing. Through Oct. 28

Take a visit to Downton Abbey

The BBC just announced a movie to continue its beloved upstairs-downstairs series about life in England World War I, but New Yorkers can step back into the world of the period drama at the Downton Abbey Exhibition in Midtown. The showcase of authentic sets and props weaves in tons of history from the show's era and explores the characters in depth, feeling more like a dinner party at the Crawley home than a traditional museum. You've got until Sept. 3 before the traveling exhibit moves on to its new city.

tional travel are equally exciting. While these fare drops are often caused by locals emptying out of hot cities for coastal vacations, there's no reason you can't take advantage of a low-cost flight to do the same. Instead of jostling with other tourists at well-known landmarks, you can use destination cities as a home base for more extensive travel once you're in the region.

If you've wanted to explore Spain, flights to Madrid and Barcelona are both predicted to drop $580 (31%) and $566 (27%), respectively, in August.

Travel app Hopper predicts that these 20 destinations will see the steepest fare drops for August flights, just in time for your next vacation. Let's take a look at the ticket-price drops in U.S. cities first.

See Los Angeles by Way of Long Beach
Long Beach, California, tops the domestic list at a super-wallet-friendly average flight price of $185 (a 49% decrease from the usual). Torn between lounging on sunny beaches, visiting the Queen Mary or renting a car to explore the Pacific Coast? When flights are nearly half off, you can do all three and visit Los Angeles too!

Just to double-check the numbers, we went to Google Flights to look up a couple of destinations. In July, flights from New York City and Chicago start at around $300. Flights between Miami and Long Beach are closer to $400. Do a quick Google search of your own city and take off the predicted discount to get a good idea of what flight prices in your area might be.

Eat your heart out in Houston
Houston comes in second $231 (a 38% decrease). Texas heat in August might not be your idea of fun, but if you like food, Houston's restaurant scene has been named a can't-miss by the likes of David Chang and the late Anthony Bourdain.

The Yankees will need Luis Severino to return to form if they want to keep up with the Red Sox. GETTY IMAGES

Yanks, Sox meet for monster 4-game series

The Red Sox can create an insurmountable lead over the Yankees should the Bronx Bombers struggle this weekend.

JOE PANTORNO
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

With the trade deadline officially having come and gone, the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox are officially in the stretch run of the 2018 MLB season. And what better way to kick off the final act of the year than with a four-game tilt between two of the most bitter rivals in all of sports?

The Yankees and Red Sox will meet at Fenway Park beginning tonight in a series that could very well settle the race for the American League East title already.

Boston has been the hottest team in baseball as of late and the best. A 26-8 stretch has the Red Sox possessing an MLB-best 75 wins while no one else in the majors has 70 victories.

J.D. Martinez is the American League MVP frontrunner in his first year at Fenway as he's batting .323 with 32 home runs and 89 RBI. He's pacing a Red Sox offense that ranks tops in the majors and also features Mookie Betts, who has mashed 25 home runs of his own with a .338 batting average.

The Yankees have attempted to keep up with the red-hot Sox, but are on the verge of falling out of contention as they sit 5.5 games back after a loss to Baltimore yesterday.

An Aaron Judge-less offense has performed pretty well over the past week, though the competition has been nothing to write home about in the Kansas City Royals and Orioles.

But it's the pitching that has provided the biggest concern as Luis Severino's struggles (8.84 ERA in last four starts) have added to question marks in a less-than-impressive rotation.

New York made the necessary moves to bolster the staff by acquiring J.A. Happ from the Toronto Blue Jays and Lance Lynn from the Minnesota Twins. Both have had success against the Red Sox throughout their careers, which is likely a big reason as to why they were brought in before the trade deadline.

In his last 10 starts against the Red Sox, Happ has a 1.78 ERA with 45 strikeouts compared to just 18 walks while opponents are batting just .202 against him.

Lynn, who hasn't faced Boston nearly as much, has allowed just two earned runs in 11 innings of work against the Red Sox this year.

Happ though will not be available for the series after contracting hand, foot and mouth disease, the same ailment that sidelined New York Mets ace Noah Syndergaard.

The Red Sox though will be without their ace as Chris Sale was put on the 10-day disabled list on Tuesday due to left shoulder inflammation.

Nets to join Knicks in Kyrie pursuit

Both New York teams will go after the point guard next summer.

JOE PANTORNO
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

Boston Celtics point guard Kyrie Irving has opened the floodgates for massive speculation after admitting earlier this summer that he will not sign a contract extension with the Boston Celtics this year. With his deal set to expire following the 2018-19 season, he is expected to become one of the most coveted free agents in a loaded market next offseason.

It sounds as though the Knicks will have company from their New York neighbors, according to the New York Times' Marc Stein in his newsletter.

"There are nonethe-

Kyrie Irving. GETTY IMAGES

less credible rumblings in circulation that the Nets plan to pursue Irving, right alongside the Knicks, should he become a free agent on July 1, 2019," Stein wrote (h/t NBC Sports).

Irving initially linked himself to the Knicks when he told Kristaps Porzingis that he would love to play with him in February. The New Jersey native grew up just across the river from Madison Square Garden as multiple analysts, pundits and insiders speculating that he would love to play with the Knicks.

Considering the Celtics and 76ers are slated to be the powerhouses of the East for years to come, it's peculiar that Irving would want to leave Boston. However, the Knicks are in the process of clearing up cap space to sign multiple max-salary free agents next summer to join Porzingis and promising rookie Kevin Knox.

The Nets though can provide a homecoming for Irving, too.

Finally having recovered from the trade for Paul Pierce, Kevin Garnett and Jason Terry that gutted the franchise in 2013, the Nets are clearing space for two max-salary contracts.

With Jeremy Lin being traded earlier this month, there is a vacancy for Irving to slot right into a backcourt that already has D'Angelo Russell.
